Title: Machine Learning for Visual Recognition

Description: This project aims to develop new machine learning methods and intelligent systems for a broad range of visual recognition applications such as face recognition, object recognition, image retrieval, and video event recognition. The students are expected to have excellent programming skills.